When Krishna said, "I am the Supreme Soul," he was not just talking about himself. He was talking about the soul in every one of us. He was talking about the soul that is the source of all life and all love. He was talking about the soul that is the source of all knowledge and all wisdom. He was talking about the soul that is the source of all power and all glory. He was talking about the soul that is the source of all beauty and all joy. He was talking about the soul that is the source of all truth and all goodness. He was talking about the soul that is the source of all life and all love. He was talking about the soul that is the source of all knowledge and all wisdom. He was talking about the soul that is the source of all power and all glory. He was talking about the soul that is the source of all beauty and all joy. He was talking about the soul that is the source of all truth and all goodness.
